

Trainee Business Development

About 2150 GmbH

We are a Swiss based Software Development Company that manufactures the Datavault Builder. The Datavault Builder is an end-to-end data integration platform that sets new industry standards. We departure on an international growth strategy. Therefore, we look for a highly motivated new team member that helps us to become the leading data integration automation product.

About the Role

We are looking for a recently graduated and highly motivated individual to join our Business Development Team as a Trainee.

You will apply your acquired higher education in conducting market research to determine new markets, prospects and help to shape market entry strategies.

Our ideal candidate has a positive personality that is able to work independently and is self-motivated, highly organised and has a structured way of working.

Responsibilities

Conduct market research with the aim to identify market opportunities, partners and market place and consolidate information into actionable items, reports and presentations.

Work with the team on market entry strategies

Contact Potential Partners to validate the analysis

Conduct competitor analysis and consolidate information into actionable items, reports and presentations

Requirements

Higher education in Business Administration, Marketing or Business Development

Motivation to combine acquired higher education with hand on experience

Excellent communication and multitasking skills

Reliable, self-motivated, open personality that has a structural way of work

German and English required, C1 and above (or equivalent)

Other languages a plus

What we offer

Young and start-up like environment in the tech industry

Potential for definition of the role and development

Be part of a growth journey in the booming data industry

A small team of coffee enthusiasts (free freshly brewed portafilter espresso)

Location: Zürich (post corona)

We are looking forward to receiving your application and CV. Please send us your application and relevant attachments to: contact@datavault-builder.com